Director, Ministerial

To whom it may concern:

Ron Price was a presenter at our recent conference camp meeting. I sat in on several of his general sessions as well as one of his breakout sessions. They were well-attended - particularly the breakout sessions. The room he was in was overflowing and even after chairs were brought in, it was standing room only.

Ron has a way of connecting with his audience. He's genuine, funny, charismatic, and most of all, someone who cares deeply about ministry. I asked him to share with our pastors one morning and he was well received. His content is refreshingly practical and helpful for pastors both in dealing with elders and church leaders and in improving conflict management skills.

When Ron wasn't presenting, he could be found sitting in on our workers' meetings, eating with the camp meeting attendees in the cafeteria, and finding ways to connect with people.

I would highly recommend Ron Price and I know that he will bring a dedicated, cheerful presence along with helpful, practical topics.

Blessings,
